

FIRST CIRCULAR FOR
RM 2010-Beijing INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM ON REFERENCE MATERIALS

to be held on Oct 26~29, 2010, in Beijing, CHINA

Dear Sir or Madam:

In order to promote the international communication and coordination, and to improve the capability on the study and application of reference materials, with the expectation to enhance the level of R&D of RMs all over the world, the RM 2010-Beijing International Symposium on Reference Materials organized by National Institute of Metrology (NIM, China) will be held on Oct 26~29, 2010 in Beijing, China.

The international symposium with the outstanding theme on “Trends and new advances on the research and production of RMs driven by global needs on measurement traceability and comparability” will pay extensive attention to the future development of metrology in chemistry and RMs. Internationally prominent scientists and experts will be invited into the symposium, together with officials, researchers and manufacturers of instruments as well as producers and users of reference materials.

Oct. is the most beautiful month in the autumn of Beijing, attendees will be invited to visit the Changping Campus of NIM. You can also visit the Expo 2010 Shanghai during your travel. We sincerely invite you to attend this event.
